Port directive for rat guards

Valued Customer,

Please find attached the Harbour Master's port directive for rat guards. Vessels berthing in all ports of the Republic of Djibouti are now required to equip themselves with rat guards for mooring operations. This directive issued by the International Maritime Organization (IMO) aims to limit the exotic rodents and protect the ecosystem.

All shipping agents are asked to ensure strict compliance with this directive and to equip themselves accordingly. Failure to comply with these provisions will result in the application of sanctions to be determined by the Harbour Master's office.
